

I found the three day CTS prep course to be a comprehensive class that not only preps for the certification but also provides valuable information for the practical day-to-day of working in the field.

Informative, learned a lot about AV math that I had questions about. It was definitely worth my time, and after this course I'm sure I'll pass the exam first time.

I enjoy the open forum. There's lots of insight into every aspect of the AV industry, and it's really good prep for the certification exam.
