Dear Brothers and Sisters,

In the fall of 2015, as part of a continuing effort to provide professional development opportunities for all IATSE members, the Education and Training Department began a partnership with lynda.com to provide quality online training.

I am pleased to announce that the IATSE will continue to offer premium annual discounted lynda.com subscriptions to members in good standing and local union staff for a third year. Ordinarily, a yearly subscription to lynda.com can cost up to $359, but IATSE members enrolled through their Local Unions can purchase annual subscriptions for only $25. There is no price increase this year, and I urge you to encourage your members to take advantage of this fantastic opportunity.

With courses in audio and music, CAD, design, video, 3D animation, and thousands of others, lynda.com is a valuable tool for the workers we represent to help them keep pace with technology and continue to build skills. Local Officers can hone their leadership skills using lynda.com with courses in negotiation, time management, social media, and much more. Training in our crafts and education for our leaders are foundational to keeping our union strong. When each of us strives to be the best that we can be, the whole IATSE benefits as we stand together in union.

Growth Equals Strength.

In Solidarity,

Matthew D. Loeb
International President
